Senate Talks Of Softening Tax Boosts

Individuals Would Pay 12½% More In House-Passed Bill

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Senate leaders said today they hope to soften the impact of a whopping $7,200,000,000 tax boost approved yesterday by the House. But they were cautious about predicting any sizable cuts.

The tax bill, largest single revenue measure ever laid before Congress, would:

1 — Add 12½ per cent to the income taxes of individuals, to raise an additional $2 847,000,000 a year.

2 — Place an additional $1,252,000,000 in excise taxes on gasoline, automobiles, cigarettes, liquor, beer and other items.

3. — Add $2,855,000,000 a year to corporation income and excess profits taxes.

4. — Raise $245,000,000 a year through a variety of changes in the tax law structure

Senator George (D) of Georgia, chairman of the Senate finance committee, said he thinks the bill may be unduly harsh in its present form, especially to unmarried income tax payers who contribute to the support of relatives but are not permitted to claim dependency deductions in figuring their taxes

Senator McFarland (D) of Arizona, Senate majority floor leader, said taxes and economy will be major topics before a conference of Senate Democrats he has called for Tuesday, the day before George's committee takes up the tax bill.

The House passed the measure, 233 to 160, after rejecting, 220 to 117, a move to send it back to committee for major alterations.

Final size of the bill, George said, will depend on the extent to which Congress uses a pruning knife on multibillion-dollar appropriation bills in the next several weeks.

Despite its huge proportions, the bill as it now stands would raise less than half the $16,500,000,000 additional taxes for which President Truman called last winter. He since has lowered his request to $10,000,000,000.

On a full-year basis, the House measure would add 12½ per cent to individual income tax bills. If it becomes effective Sept 1, as proposed by the House, it would add only 4 per cent to the tax on this year's income

The cigarette tax would rise from seven cents a package to eight cents, the tax on automobiles from 7 per cent of the manufacturer's price to 10 per cent; on whisky and other hard liquor from $9 a 100-proof gallon to $10.50; beer from $8 to $9 a barrel; gasoline from 1½ cents a gallon to 2 cents.

Corporation tax boosts would work this way.

On the first $25,000 of income, the levy would rise from 25 per cent to 30 per cent On income, exceeding $25,0000, the combined normal and surtax rate would go up from 47 per cent to 52 per cent. The effective maximum rate of the excess profits tax would be lifted from 77 per cent to 82 per cent

Lewis Will Face Snubs, Cheers At U.A.W. Meeting

DETROIT, June 23 (AP)— Snubs and cheers from the C.I.O United Automobile Workers awaited John L. Lewis, boss of the independent United Mine Workers and a founder of the C.I O., here today.

It was the controversial Lewis' first trip to this highly-unionized city in 11 years and he came to address a meeting which the U A W. international board instructed its members and top officials to skip.

The gathering, sponsored by the 65,000-member Ford Local 600 of the U.A W., will commemorate the 10th anniversary of the signing of the first union contract by Henry Ford

President Walter Reuther of the U.A.W. has accused Lewis of attempting to lure U.A.W. locals into his own union's catch-all District 50 union, and U A.W. Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey has accused him of being "a big, bad boy who refuses to play ball with other unions".

Carl Stellato, president of the Ford local, invited Lewis to speak at the anniversary celebration a few weeks after breaking with Reuther over a boost in union dues and intra-union policies.

The Lewis invitation has disrupted the ranks of Local 600. Two officials have quit over it

BUENOS AIRES, June 23, (AP)—Five Argentine army officers are under arrest, charged with trying to stir a revolt against the government.

Probe May Seek Views Of Harriman

Move Could Prolong Investigation Into MacArthur's Ouster

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)— A move to summon W. Averell Harriman from Europe for testimony on Far Eastern policy threatens to prolong the Senate's investigation of General Douglas MacArthur's ouster.

Senator McMahon (D) of Connecticut told a reporter he plans to bring before the Senate armed services and foreign relations committees Monday the question of calling Harriman.

Harriman, presidential foreign affairs adviser, is in Europe checking the progress of attempts to weld the North Atlantic pact countries into an effective defense unit against possible Communist attack there.

He was excused previously by the committees from testifying because members thought — and he agreed — that his testimony would be "repetitious".

However, McMahon said he thinks the group ought to hear from Harriman in rebuttal to testimony by Patrick J. Hurley, former ambassador to China.

"In view of Hurley's testimony about the Yalta agreement and several other things, I think it would be a good idea to hear Harriman," McMahon said.

Harriman, then ambassador to Russia, attended the 1945 Yalta conference, but Hurley did not.

Hurley bitterly denounced the Yalta agreement as an "immoral and cowardly" pact which he said gave Russia unwarranted territorial concessions in Manchuria at the expense of Nationalist China.

He also testified that President Roosevelt commissioned him to try to modify the Yalta terms, or even have them set aside.

Major General David G. Barr, who had been scheduled as the next to last witness in the committee's hearings, told senators yesterday that Chiang Kai-shek, Chinese Nationalist leader, was "chagrined" at the Yalta agreement and "resented" it.

But Barr, former Seventh Division commander under MacArthur in Korea, said he didn't think the agreement contributed directly to the fall of China to the Communists.

The committee had planned to wind up hearings with testimony Monday from Major General Emmett (Rosie) O'Donnell, former commander of the Far Eastern Air Forces, who once urged that the "ultimate weapon" — the atomic bomb — be used in Korea.

But Chairman Russell (D) of Georgia told reporters that one or more committee members are insisting that additional witnesses be called.

Florida Governor To Be Subpenaed By Crime Probers

MIAMI, June 23 (AP)— Florida's Governor Fuller Warren will get a subpena, probably Tuesday, to appear before the Senate crime investigating committee in Washington, July 9.

The subpena, first issued by the Senate crime probers for a state's chief executive, was announced at the end of a two-day hearing in Miami yesterday. Spectators cheered.

Senator O'Connor (D) of Maryland, chairman of the committee, made the announcement and handed the subpena to deputy U.S. Marshal Jack F. Peeples.

Warren, resting at Ormond Beach, had no comment

Warren declined invitations to appear before the committee in Miami Yesterday, O'Conor announced he received a telegram bearing the governor's name and said: "That's the only word we have received from him."

In the telegram, Warren defended his record and declared: "No gambler or gangster made any contribution to my campaign so far as I know."

O'Conor had outlined six questions the committee wanted Warren to answer. These included whether he knew of large contributions made to his 1948 campaign and if any came from gamblers or racketeers

On the final day of its Miami hearing, the committee was told that marijuana, heroin and cocaine came to Miami from the north and that considerable quantities of marijuana came from South America on banana boats.

Seamen End East And Gulf Coast Strikes

Shipping Operators Still Must Settle With Two Other Groups

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP) — Shorter hours and higher wages brought C.I.O. seamen back to their Atlantic and Gulf coast jobs today, but shipping operators still must settle with radiomen and engineers.

Federal mediators announced "complete agreement" between some 40 shipping companies and the C I O. National Maritime Union late last night after daylong negotiations.

The conciliators then expressed hopes the same companies will settle with the American Radio Association and the National Marine Engineers Beneficial Association at meetings today.

Joseph Curran. N.M.U. president, said he expects the agreement for his union will set the pattern for the two smaller C.I.O unions

Curran said N.M U. operations will be back to normal by midnight But whether American flag ships resume sailing depends largely on the radiomen. Maritime law forbids vessels to sail without a radioman.

The seven-day tie-up by the 52,000-member N.M U affected or threatened some 650 ships operating out of Atlantic and Gulf coast ports. At least 75 were immobilized in the port of New York.

Under the new two-year N.M.U. contract, with its provisions retroactive to last Saturday, the union won an immediate 44-hour work week at sea to be cut to 40 hours Dec 16.

Previously, seamen worked 48 hours at sea. They will continue to work 40 hours while in port.

An 8 per cent across-the-board wage increase was granted the N.M U., which had asked a 25 per cent raise.

Old pay scales ranged from $213 to $315 a month.

Paid vacations up to three weeks and semi-annual review of basic monthly wages and overtime rates also established in the agreement. A joint committee will adjust inequities

A fringe benefit provides that a washing machine be installed on every vessel for the crew's use.

Subsistence and lodging pay is increased from $6 to $8.

Violence Prevents Sailing Of Liner

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23 (AP)—A bitter water-front labor squabble erupted into violence late last night and prevented the sailing of the Matson liner Lurline — just as shipping was settling down to normal after a six-day strike by sea-going radiomen.

Begin In The Hague Next Saturday

Oil Hearings Set By World Court

By The Associated Press

The International Court of Justice at The Hague—judicial arm of the United Nations—stepped into the critical Anglo-Iranian oil dispute today. It will begin hearings next Saturday.

Great Britain requested the world court to intervene after its negotiations with Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's nationalist government broke down this week.

The Iranians pushed ahead with their "no compromise" move to nationalize the rich Persian oil resources, forcing out British control of oil production in that Middle East country.

Oil apparently still is flowing from the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.'s refineries at the south Iranian city of Abadan, but an Iranian government-appointed commission is in control of the British-owned company's offices.

The Iranian government moved further to control the export of the precious fuel by demanding that tanker captains sign Iranian national oil company receipts.

Police searched everyone leaving the main Anglo-Iranian offices in Teheran to prevent the removal of documents. Press reports said they are doing the same thing at Abadan. Employees said the normal business was hampered because routine order forms and way bills covering the sale of gasoline to automobiles in Teheran could not be sent out.

Egyptian newspapers today published sensational reports that Britain is sending reinforcements to the Suez Canal zone and to other bases in Iraq in preparation for possible action in Iran. British army officers in Cairo called the reports "nonsense".

Since the nationalization bill was put through, Anglo-Iranian has stopped paying monthly royalties to Iran. This has put a tight squeeze on the country's economy, which depended largely on these royalties.

As a result, the U S. State Department reported last night that Iran has expressed willingness to accept the 25-million-dollar loan from the U. S. Export-Import Bank toward which she previously showed marked coolness.

The loan poses a ticklish problem for the U. S., who feels the necessity for helping Iran build its strength against communism but does not want to anger her British ally.

Floods, Winds Sweep Kansas

Damage To Crops, Property In Millions

By The Associated Press

More rain was forecast for flood-stricken Kansas over the week end as damage to crops and property from floods, winds and hail mounted into the millions of dollars. Several rivers and streams are on a rampage.

At Hays, Big Creek again spilled over its banks and between 40 and 50 blocks were flooded, forcing 3,000 persons to leave their homes. At Manhattan, the Blue River flooded an area about 10 blocks long and two to three blocks wide. The water was two feet deep in front of the City Hall.

The Kansas River is flooding from Manhattan to Kansas City and on the Kansas a crest of 27 feet, six feet above flood stage, or more is expected at Topeka.

Showers for the week-end also are in prospect for other Midwest areas and in the North Atlantic states. Early today there were showers around Lake Superior, in parts of eastern Colorado, southern Wyoming, western Nebraska and northwestern Kansas.

Warm and humid weather continued over the southern states.

Fire Damages Bakery Shop

Policeman Cuts Hand And Autoist Is Cited

Fire from an unknown cause damaged the baking shop of Paul's Bakery, 777 Dresden Ave., about 2 a m. today.

The blaze originated near the gas-fired steamer, used to "raise" bread and other goods before baking. The ceiling and wall at the rear were damaged but there was no estimate of the loss Frank Pettay of Vine St., owner of the one-story frame structure, said his loss is insured.

The bakery is operated by Paul Burlingame. 2100 Ohio Ave. The store was undamaged and opened for business but baking will be done at the shop of his brother, Lester Burlingame in Midland, until repairs are completed.

Two young men passing the shop noticed the blaze and advised Patrolman Mike Winters, who notified Central firemen.

Patrolman Winters, 132 West Fourth St., suffered a lacerated left hand on a broken pane of glass at the fire. He was treated at City Hospital.

Richard Allen Klufe of Cleveland forfeited a $31 bond when he failed to appear in Municipal Court this morning on a charge of driving over a line of hose while firemen were battling the blaze.

11 U.S. Reds May Head For Prison In July

Jackson Turns Down Their Pleas For Stay Of Sentence In Case

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP) —The United States' 11 homegrown Communist leaders who were convicted of teaching the violent overthrow of their government may begin their prison terms early next month.

Justice Jackson of the U. S. Supreme Court late yesterday denied their pleas for stay of sentence until the high court gets back next fall from its summer recess.

The convicted men are Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the Communist party of the United States and his 10 chief advisers. Together, they form the "politburo" — executive council — of communism in the United States.

Dennis and nine others got sentences of five years and $10,000 fine. The 11th, R. G. Thompson, drew a three-year sentence, in view of his war record in the Pacific, and $10,000 fine.

They were convicted under the 1940 Smith Act, which forbids conspiracy to teach or advocate overthrow by force of the U. S. government.

Jackson said it was 'beyond belief" the high court would change its views He therefore ordered sentences executed without delay.

In New York last night, U. S. Attorney Irving M. Saypool said he will move "upon receipt of the (Supreme Court's) mandate in the U. S. District Court on June 29" to have the Communist leaders surrender 'within a week".

He said it was the biggest mid-morning crowd in years for the potters' fete.

Rides were free in the forenoon and they were getting a big play, while a large crowd assembled in the main ballroom for the baby beauty contest

The weatherman had warned of showers but the skies appeared to be clearing before noon with indications the sun would beam down on the remainder of the day's activities.

High Ground Exchanged Five Times

Bitter Battles Flare In Former Triangle; New Red Blow Seen

TOKYO, June 23 (AP)—Allied troops and Chinese Reds fought savagely with bayonets and hand grenades today for commanding ground in the old Communist "iron triangle" of North Korea.

High ground exchanged hands five times during the day.

At nightfall the Allies were dug in triumphantly on the hill. The Reds pulled back, possibly to regroup for a new blow.

U N. infantrymen pushed into the area south of the triangle apex of Pyonggang early today in an attempt to throw off balance an expected Red smash about Monday, the war's first anniversary.

They advanced steadily all morning through constant small arms and automatic weapons fire

The Allies hurled a morning attack on the hill in a broiling sun.

Hundreds of enemy rifles and sub-machine guns and five machine guns answered their charge.

Allied tanks and artillery splattered the Red bunkers just over the ridge top U.N troops won their objective at bayonet point by mid-afternoon.

Thirty minutes later the Chinese struck back with withering Tommy gun, grenade and machine gun fire. Bayonets were fixed to their rifles.

The Allies backed down the south slope of the 500-foot hill They regrouped at the base and doggedly stormed to its summit again.

With bugles blowing, the Reds were back again before the Allies had time to consolidate their positions.

Once more the Allies fell back down the slope, but they were on top again at darkness

Allied artillery and planes hammered the rear slope of the hill while the bayonet-grenade fighting seesawed on the southern slope.

As the furious fighting waned, front-line officers said "We believe we have cracked both the resistance and the counter-attack We will take the ground and hold it"

The Red force that fought so stubbornly for the high ground was a screen to keep Allied probing units from sounding out new enemy defenses being formed north of the Reds former "iron triangle" troop massing area.

Pursued Driver Hits Friend Who Started Walking

Charles Nixon, 72, of Toronto, probably thought he was lucky when he managed to get out of a car that was being pursued after a collison, but he ended up in a doctor's office after all—the fleeing car finally struck him.

According to Wintersville officers of the State Highway Patrol, Holton Reed, 31, of Toronto sideswiped Leroy Hoover, 37, of Steubenville about 8 45 Friday night on the Goose Run Road a mile west of Stratton.

Reed failed to stop and Hoover gave chase. After a short chase, Reed rammed a roadside bank and stopped and out stepped Nixon, who started walking down the highway.

Patrolmen said Reed started up again and ran over his erstwhile companion in efforts to elude the approaching Hoover. The chase continued another half mile or so and Reed rammed into the bank again. This time, Hoover held Reed until the patrolmen arrived.

Nixon was treated at a physicians office for a broken leg and Reed was taken to the Steubenville Jail on charges of driving while intoxicated and lack of a driver's license, the patrol said.

Congressmen Appear Cool To Health Plan

Seem Unlikely To Accept Challenge Hurled By Truman

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Congress seems unlikely to accept President Truman's challenge to write its own compulsory health insurance plan if it won't take the one he has been fighting for since 1945

Truman said yesterday he would "go along with" any plan better than his own "or even one that is almost as good".

The President laid down the challenge and made the promise in a speech at cornerstone laying ceremonies for the government's new 40-million-dollar national health institute clinical center in near-by Bethesda, Md

In Chicago Dr J W Cline president of the American Medical Association, replied that there is "already available and functioning admirably a better program—"the American medical system

Although there was no immediate concerted critical comment from opponents of the President's plan, which would levy pay roll taxes on individuals to pay their medical bills reaction in general was that Truman's new proposal would get nowhere in the present Congress

To the long-standing claim that the President wants "socialized medicine" and that private health insurance organizations are capable of handling the problem a new opposition argument has been added

It is that social security taxes already have gone up the cost of living has increased and Congress is about to boost the individual income taxes The average citizen who might need government health insurance, opponents claim just can't stand any more nibbles at his pay check at this time

In yesterday's speech Truman estimated that less than four million Americans have reasonably complete medical care insurance and 75 million have none at all, while "skyrocketing medical costs are pushing millions of Americans into the medically indigent class

Not Even A Bobcat Can Scare This Child

RAWLINS, Wyo. (UP)—Ten-year-old Bobby Baker of Sinclair was out hunting rabbits when he walked over the top of a steep hill and found himself face-to-face with a bobcat.

"It hissed and spit and showed its teeth at me," Bobby said, "so I just pulled up my .410 shotgun and shot it right in the head."

The cat measured three feet from ears to the tip of its tail.

Bobby's father, C. H. Baker, who was near by, was the only one shaken by the incident. He was thankful the boy had a gun.

Laura Otero died at the age of 120. Last year she was almost burned to death when her house caught fire and she refused to leave it.

13th Annual Event

Wellsville Firemen's Celebration Set July 2-7

The Wellsville Volunteer Fire Department's 13th annual homecoming celebration is scheduled for July 2-7, according to Jack E. Phillips, general chairman.

Phillips is heading the affair for the first time as the late M.L. Clendenning served each year since the event started in 1938. Phillips served as secretary to Clendenning in recent years.

The main event of the week-long celebration as usual will be the big firemen's parade Friday night, July 6. This attracts bands, marching units and fire equipment from Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. About $600 will be given in prizes.

The Gooding Shows will set up on the 13th St. ballfield and will be open nightly from 6:30 to 11:30.

Others serving on the executive committee are Mayor C. C. Leatherberry, honorary chairman; Ed Broderick, president of the Wellsville Volunteer Fire Department; Thomas Gaultier, vice-president; A. W. Phillips, treasurer, and Fire Chief Robert Lewis.

Rifle Down Throat Fails To Halt Lioness

PRETORIA, South Africa (UP)— A lioness ambling away from two constables who had disturbed her at Malopene, bordering Kruger National Park, suddenly turned and charged.

One constable jammed his rifle down the throat of the enraged beast. She shook the weapon loose and charged the other constable, J. J. Van Zyl.

Van Zyl fired twice at close range, but the lioness kept moving in until a third shot dropped her dead at his feet.

Expert Advises Women To Take It Easy On Makeup

NEW YORK (UP) — There's nothing like a freshly-scrubbed face for real glamour, Bradshaw Crandall artist, contends.

Crandall has been painting magazine cover girls and portraits for some 25 years and he still asks his models to wash their faces with soap and water when they arrive carefully made up.

"Women lose their gold mine, so to speak, when they cover up their natural beauty," the artist said, lounging beside a half-finished portrait of a radiant brunette in his penthouse studio. "Unless a girl actually has skin blemishes, she should let the natural color of her skin show through."

Crandall claimed that his attitude wasn't strictly that of an artists. All men, he said, like the frankness of a soap and water look.

"That doesn't mean a girl can't wear any makeup at all," he said. "But she should put it on to enhance her own face, not to cover it up. Men like to look at a woman and see something they understand. They may be intrigued by one of these long-stemmed girls with heavy, exotic makeup for an evening, but for daily companionship, men like a woman they feel at home with."

Crandall, who commands a fancy price for his portraits both of men and women, disagreed with the suggestion that after 35 a woman needed to add more artificial aids to her skin.

"There is no age when a woman can't afford to be frank," he insisted. "Look at Bette Davis or Joan Bennett or Ginger Rogers. If you see them in real life, they'll be wearing a minimum of makeup. They've learned to play up their own natural looks."

Christening Bares Troopship Plans For Super-Liner

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., June 23 (AP) — The passenger liner United States, which was floated in her drydock early today, was conceived and built primarily as a troop transport in the event of war, her operators disclosed today.

John M. Franklin, president of the United States Lines, in a speech at ceremonies christening the 70-million-dollar super-liner said: "We face the solemn fact that we are in a period of world confusion and crisis. Against the possibility of such an emergency, this mighty ship was conceived, planned and constructed, basically and primarily as a naval transport, for immediate use as a troopship if war must come."

The 51,500-ton United States, largest and fastest passenger ship ever built in this country, has many closely-guarded secret defense features which make her readily convertible into a transport capable of carrying 14,000 troops. She is the third-largest ship in the world, bowing in size only to Britain's Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth.

His College Diploma Goes Underground

STANFORD, Calif., (UP) — Most college graduates keep their diploma in a frame on the living room wall, but Charles M. Hunter is different. His is buried two feet in the ground somewhere in Korea.

Mr. Hunter, a 23-year-old Army lieutenant from Sacramento, finished his history course at Stanford last January. A short time later he received his commission and was sent to Japan.

After commencement exercises in June, his diploma was mailed to him. But in the meantime, Mr. Hunter landed in Korea as platoon commander in a First Cavalry Division regiment.

The sheepskin was forwarded and he received it one day while dug in along the Naktong River. Limited in what he could carry, he buried the leather-bound document by the river, noting his position before he moved on.

Now Mr. Hunter is back in Japan and he hopes nobody ever asks him to "dig up" his diploma to prove he's a college graduate.

Wife Of Famed Chef Bars Kitchen To Him

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UP)— Charles C. Reidinger has cooked for Europe's crowned heads and was personal chef to President Wilson but his wife keeps him out of the kitchen at home.

Mr. Riedinger supervised the cooking of some 18 million meals before retiring as chef of the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel here.

The 63-year-old native of Alsace-Lorraine finds people today don't eat as they did early in the century, when he produced delicacies in Europe and old New York and on the best ocean liners.

"They are more likely to order steak than a breast of guinea hen under glass," he said.

Mr. Riedinger was personal chef to President Wilson aboard the S. S. George Washington on the voyages to and from the Versailles peace conference in 1918.

"My skill was not taxed very much," he recalled. "The President usually had chicken and the other diplomats followed his example."

At the Sheraton-Biltmore, he bossed 32 chefs, but his wife, who "knows what I like" shoos him from the kitchen when she works.

More U.N. Troops For Korea

Pressure for more help in Korea from other U.N. members is being applied by the United States.

If the other U.N. members value the doctrine of co-operative security, they will yield to the pressure without a murmur of dissent.

They know that if the United States had not rushed to the rescue a year ago, the Korean republic would have been overrun by the North Korean invaders in a few days.

They know that this government's willingness to act first and ask questions later saved the United Nations from following the League of Nations into limbo.

But it has been obvious for a long time that they also know something else—that because the United States must bear the brunt of the Korean war under any circumstances, they can get by with token participation.

This has created a domestic problem for the American government. It has hurt the status of the United Nations inside the United States. It has deepened an impression which was going to be made anyway, that the United States possesses in fact the only power that exists within the United Nations.

The war in Korea, now a year old, no longer can be called an emergency. It is rather a military problem confronting the United Nations. Nothing would be more neatly calculated to put the U.N. on a going-concern basis than a substantial increase in its members' contributions to the "police action" begun a year ago.

Congress Is From Missouri, Too

The rough handling of President Truman's ideas about economic controls shows that Congress is in a skeptical mood.

There is nothing partisan about the mood. Representatives and senators of both parties are from Missouri when more executive authority over the free enterprise system is mentioned.

They doubt that Truman and his advisers could do anything worth while with more authority to check inflation. They suspect that the net result would be only an increase in government authority.

More than that, they suspect that the same tide of events which swept England into state socialism is flowing strongly in Washington and that the pending proposal for more economic controls is one of the results.

They know, as a result of Truman's blasting of those who question the need for more economic controls, that he is getting into a position to make a political issue of them. But members of Congress who are not previously committed to Truman's side of the issue are not being intimidated.

They believe that the last thing their constituents would want them to do is turn over more power to the state with the argument that this is the best way to preserve freedom in America.

Sixteen Weeks To Flop

It had seemed like a good bet that the talks in Paris by the deputy foreign ministers would be called off soon after the election in France. French anxiety was one of the things which made it impossible for the talkers to get anywhere in 16 weeks of dialectics.

It was a good bet. The talks are all over, but the recriminations which will be hurled back and forth because they flopped will be many. Secretary of State Acheson was right when he said last March it was useless to have them in the first place because none of the real causes of tension could be changed.

But in fairness to the Soviet Union, it must be admitted that the Atlantic pact, which the United States, Great Britain and France refused to reopen for a full-dress review, is a very real cause of Soviet tension—just as real a cause as German rearmament is to France or as Russian expansionism is to the United States and Britain. The Russians are on a hot spot.

This amounts to saying there was nothing the deputy foreign ministers could talk about, unless Andrei Gromyko, representing Russia, declared that the Kremlin had revised its momentous decision to knock off every country that could not be defended. The great decision to keep that from happening, if possible, has been made.

Unless the Kremlin changes its mind, governments it threatens will continue to express themselves with preparations for defense.

Ten Gallons Of Necessity

It has been easy for Americans to take a detached viewpoint of the squabble in Iran over nationalization of that country's oil industry at the expense of its British owners.

But there is no such thing as a detached viewpoint on anything which threatens to interfere with petroleum production anywhere in the world, particularly in the United States.

Petroleum is the prime modern necessity, next to food. It is actually less important that Iran seems determined to dispossess British capital than that the dispossession will bring about a curtailment in the world supply of petroleum products. There would be no way to replace the more than 3,000 British technicians who have operated the world's largest refinery in Iran. The result of their departure will be felt eventually at every gas station in America.

Behind The News

By George Sokolsky

More On The Cry Against The 'China Lobby'

Three factors enter into the propaganda of any country within the United States:

1.—The legitimate provision of information and propaganda. Such agencies are maintained in the U. S. by nearly all countries, probably the largest being the British.

American employees of such organizations are required by law to register as foreign agents. This list heretofore always has been a public document, available to anyone who cared to look at it. For some reason, not readily understood, this now has become a secret list, perhaps to protect Washington lawyers.

2.—The various organizations of Americans who voluntarily spend their own time and money being pro or anti this or that. The country is full of them. As regards China, there are a number of associations in favor of Nationalist or Communist China. Some of these have been effective.

3.—The clandestine efforts of foreign governments by diverse means to influence public opinion. These are naturally not always traceable. For instance, Nationalist China had, during the war years, set up agencies in Washington under the general management of T. V. Soong, David Corcoran (brother of Tommy) and Ludwik Rajchman to operate various enterprises in connection with loans, supplies, etc. Whether such an agency also engaged in influencing views, I do not know. The natural supposition must be that every country seeks to win friends and does the best it can. And the winning of friendship is a gentle art with many techniques.

SOVIET RUSSIA employed Amtorg in numerous ways, from trade and commerce to espionage. To what extent other governments employ similar agencies for these purposes never has been established in a quotable manner.

The phrase the "China lobby" thus far has not been defined as belonging to the categories described above. If it is found that an agency of the Chinese government employed a publicity firm, such as the Allied Syndicates, Inc., or some other, this is legitimate and there can be no criticism either of the employer or the employee.

The Allied Syndicates has been close to the Democratic party, having had John Sullivan, former secretary of the Navy, and Clark Clifford, former counselor to the President, associated with it. It also has been suggested that a member of the President's office had recommended this firm.

There can be no reasonable objection to the employment of this firm for straight publicity work, if that is what it did. I have no information to the contrary.

The cry against the "China lobby" originated in the Russell committee among those senators who are violently anti-MacArthur. Their object is to detract attention from the failings of the administration to the protagonists of Chiang Kai-shek.

Their butt is not the hired public relations counsel nor even the Chinese themselves. It is to bring odium to American citizens who have spent their own time and money to oppose the Communist conquest of China. They would like to pillory Alfred Kohlberg, a citizen who is devoted to anti-Communism.

THE REASON that these politicians hate Kohlberg is that they believe that he is responsible for Senator Joe McCarthy — which would be something for anyone to take on.

McCarthy and Kohlberg are friends and serve in the same causes. So are a great many other Americans. It will do no harm to bring it all into the open, not by smearing nor by sly, undefined accusations, but by setting forth the virtue of these Americans who inhibited the State Department policy of aiding Communist China.

As a matter of fact, it is encouraging to see Americans put up the fight they have against Communist China. Perhaps had there been no Kohlbergs, Soviet Russia, by now, would be in Burma, Siam and Iran.

I know this man and often have wondered at his fanatical insistence in a tough fight. A merchant, he has devoted time, money and experience to the fight.

He got into it by accident; that is, he believed that the Institute of Pacific Relations, of which he had been a member and to which he had contributed, had misrepresented itself to him. He got sore.

The more he got into that fight, the more he recognized that the battle had to be broadened until it included an attack on all Communist activity, particularly right here in the U. S.

He has proved to be an effective fighter and a competent leader in a good cause. Investigators of Kohlberg will have a tough time discovering any anti-American attitudes.

Inside On Labor

By Victor Riesel

This time the really powerful leaders of the American Communist network—the brain-trusters, the tacticians, technicians strategists, propaganda and infiltration experts, the real unknown veterans —have been arrested by the F.B.I.

Some of them were trusted so intensely by the party super-chiefs in Moscow that these American Communists actually helped to build the Soviets' central school for revolutionary tactics, Lenin University, in Moscow.

Some, according to congressional records, worked with the Moscow secret police, then known as the O.G.P.U. as far back as the 1920's.

Some ran the Communist party's internal police system which spied upon and disciplined the apparatus' members when they wobbled a little.

At least one, Jack Mindel, a former wealthy dentist who gave up his practice about 1930, was all-powerful and considered, for a while, Moscow's special undercover "rep" in the U. S.

SO BRILLIANT a strategist and scientific Marxian specialist was he considered by the Moscow politburo, that he was summoned to Russia to teach revolutionary tactics in Lenin University in the early 30's.

Soon afterwards, he directed the national training school for the Communist party and was charged by the Russians with the skillful job of creating party "cadres" and cells for infiltration of strategic areas of American social, intellectual, industrial and labor circles.

At the same time, the F.B.I.'s arrests early Wednesday morning bagged the men who have been working under Mindel in the invasion of American unions and secret war plants. Rounded up, too, were the chiefs of the Communist party's water-front section and its movie, radio, television and cultural commission.

Nabbed also were the men who, in Schenectady, western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and other key defense areas, have for 20 years directed the party's undercover work in electronic shops, atomic motor installations, steel and automotive plants and coal pits.

There's also grim satisfaction in reporting that finally the men assigned to exploit religious groups, the Negroes and other minorities have been picked up. And, too, leaders of the party's commission specializing in the infiltration of farm groups and women's organizations.

So it should be understood that these arrests did not dragnet the party's second line of control, but the men who have been giving orders to the convicted 11-man politburo now on its way to jail.

Arrest of the second- and third-string Communist leaders, the men and women whom the party dropped back into obscurity when the original politburo was indicted two years ago, will come later this winter.

There is a pattern here. This week's arrests ripped the top off the party, haul in the charter members, hold up to public view the Russian-trained veterans, the men who actually created the American apparatus.

Incidentally, they lived like anything but catacomb revolutionists. Examination of their homes here, as I did by car a few hours before this was written, shows them to have resided in comfortable modern, outlying districts. No slum cells for them.

TYPICAL OF the depth of the power of those being fingerprinted, even as this rolls out of the typewriter, is testimony before the House un-American activities committee in October of 1939, page 4676. Then, Ben Gitlow, a former vice-presidential nominee of the Communist party, swore that, to his own personal knowledge, Jack Mindel and Alex Trachtenberg, two of those picked up by the F.B.I., were part of a group consisting of Soviet secret police agents, or working intimately with them.

In this group were George Mink, known as a professional G.P.U. killer, now believed dead; Julia Stuart Poyntz, who knew so much that she became the Communists' Judge Crater—having disappeared never to be found; Jack Johnston, and Charles Krumbein both also dead. This left just Mindel and Trachtenberg.

Typical of the operational power of those Communists now facing trial (and exposure by new undercover agents as well as the old witnesses who testified against the convicted 11) are the case histories of Betty Gannett, Marion Bachrach and Arnold Johnson, three of those arrested Wednesday.

Gannett, trained in the 30's in the Lenin School, helped boss the party in California and then ran its apparatus out of Chicago for 13 states.

Bachrach is the sister of the pro-Soviet lawyer, John Abt, who ran many unions and whose first big labor job came as a result of recommendation by an unsuspecting Supreme Court justice. Bachrach runs party publicity.

And Johnson, as far back as 1932, operated the Ohio Communist party and its front—then was shifted to western Pennsylvania near where the electronic and atomic motor shops are concentrated.

They sure got around, but their roaming days are over.

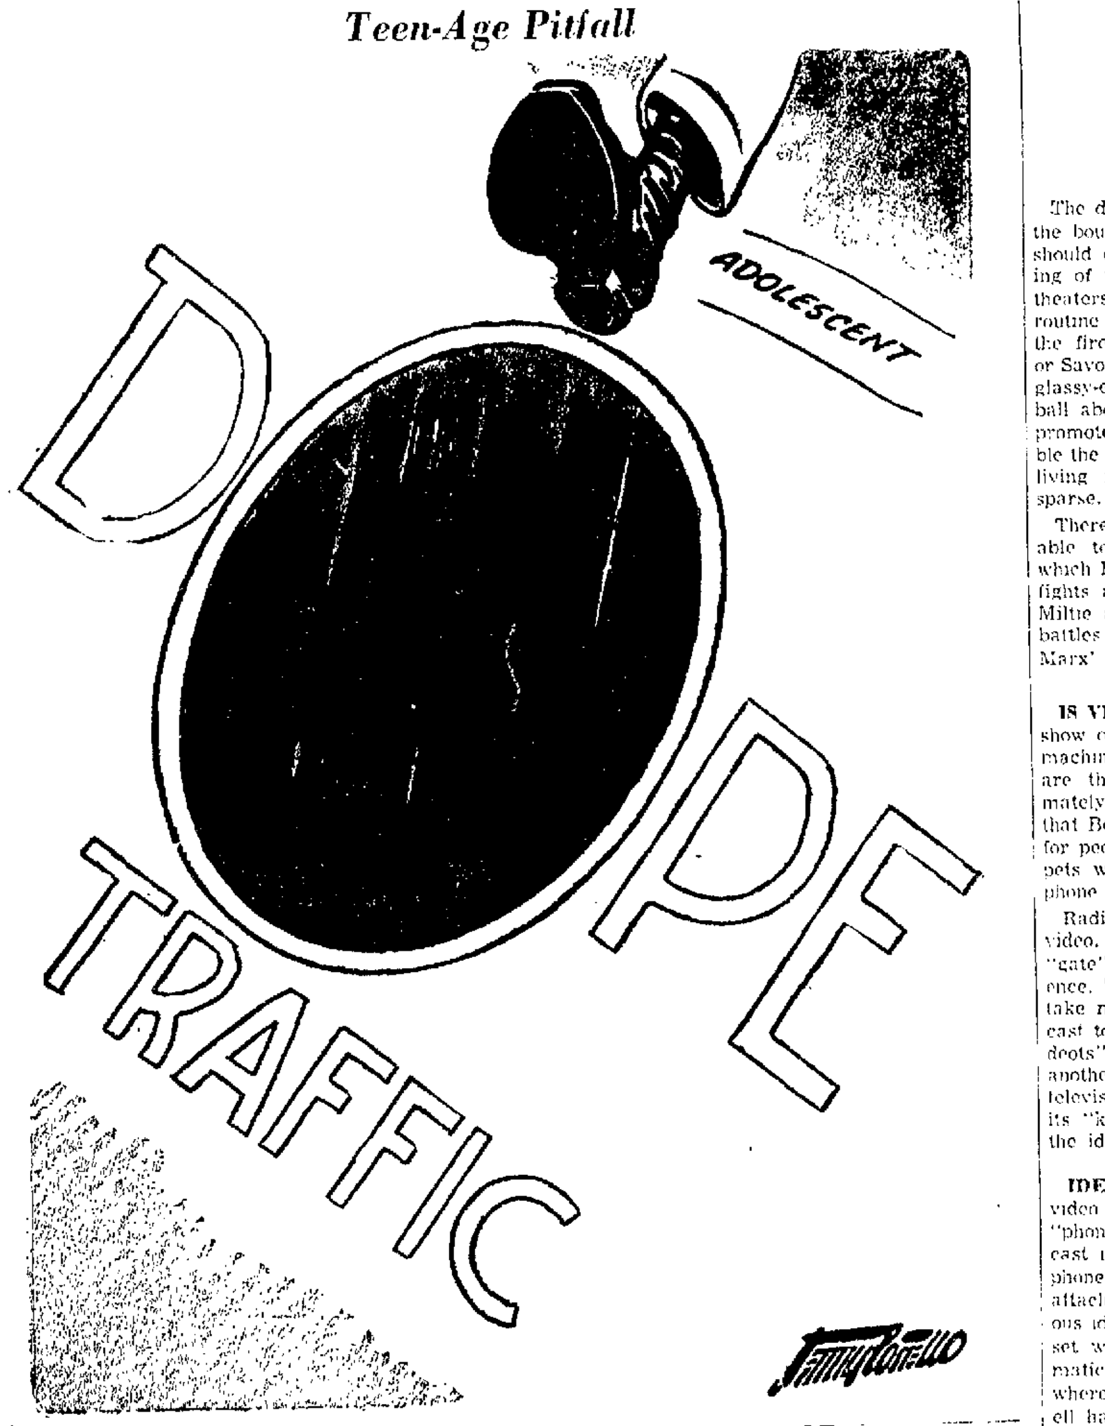
Teen-Age Pitfall



Clearing The Dust From The Atom

By Howard W. Blakeslee

NEW YORK

The public is being confused these days by many conflicting statements about A-bombs. Here are some of them:

1. — The area under an A-bomb explosion is dangerous for hours, days — maybe weeks. On the other hand, it is said that two minutes after an explosion one can enter the area immediately underneath without danger from radioactivity.

2. — Ships at Bikini were so contaminated they could not be cleaned.

3. — After each bomb a radioactive cloud circles the earth several times.

4. — The radioactive cloud from a single bomb, exploded over the Pacific, could destroy all life in the United States.

What is the truth? The No. 4 statement is not true. It never was anything except a theory. Each of the other statements can be true or false, depending on circumstances which are likely to differ from one bomb to the next.

THE CONFUSION arises because radioactivity from the A-bomb comes in three stages. First is the flash and ball of fire, emitting Gamma Rays (they are the same as X-rays). Second the earth, buildings, metal in your pockets or teeth, may become radioactive by transmutation from the bomb's flash. Third is dust and other things that may fall like rain out of the bomb cloud. After an underwater bomb, the rain is real and all of it radioactive.

Only one of these radioactivity perils is a major hazard. This is the flash and ball of fire. This danger is all over within one minute. This Gamma Ray peril reaches out about a mile and a half from the bomb, in all directions. Up to a mile it can make you sick enough to die in a week or more. After a mile and a quarter it does not do much harm.

The second danger, transmutation of atoms of earth and other things on the ground into radioactivity of many kinds, is not possible unless the bomb is exploded close to the earth.

And it is always assumed that the bomb will not be exploded close. The reason for this assumption is that present A-bombs have to be detonated at around 2,000 feet altitude to knock down the largest number of buildings and to set the most fires.

At that altitude there is no transmutation on the ground and no risk from radioactivity right under the bomb after the first minute.

Should the bomb be exploded low down, there will be risk from radioactivity in immediate rescue work. But there will be no risk of death in very short exposures. If the rescue work is monitored, workers will not suffer serious harm, even in an area that remains uninhabitable for months due to radioactivity.

Dust dangers are tricky. At Bikini, on the deck of the German heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen, I picked up tiny pieces of metal that we had vaporized from warships directly under the bomb. That metallic vapor had been carried downwind over the Eugen. The metal fell like tiny hail. This metal was dangerously radioactive (some of mine had a half-life of nine days, which means very high radioactivity). But I was in no danger because I did not keep my souvenirs close to my person. Members of the crew collected bottles of the same hail, without hurting themselves.

After the New Mexico bomb, radioactive dust fell on a herd of cattle, causing hair to fall out of their backs. Some of it never grew again. But no human beings were hurt by this dust. If they got any, it was brushed off in time.

THAT BOMB dropped dust in Ohio which afterward fogged some photographic film. There wasn't any danger to human beings. Last Winter's Nevada bombs dropped so much radioactivity over the north-eastern United States that in some areas the rays were 100 times greater than normal. Normal means the amount of radioactivity present everywhere all the time. There was not the slightest risk to health in this increase.

At Bikini, after the underwater bomb, ships decks were so heavily radioactive that a man remaining there for five days would have received a fatal dose of Gamma (or X) Rays. Yet the day after this bomb, men boarded some ships briefly, without harm. They had to stay a while to be hurt.

It is true the ships were not decontaminated. But they could have been. They were not, because decontamination would have been very expensive. And these were vessels the Navy no longer planned to man.

The radioactive cloud — which even today is still circling the earth after the Eniwetok tests — is a cloud only by a remarkable stretch of imagination.

The cloud is a vast number of radioactive particles, mostly from the metals and the split atoms of the bomb itself. There are countless billions. They are invisible. The cloud is not even a faint haze. Even if you could use a microscope, you could not see it.

Class Reunion

By Truman Twill

Another ordeal by class reunion is all over, but the post mortem, which is the best part. . . .

You wouldn't know Susie Q, who was starting to get sloppy even before she graduated and now hits the scales at close to 200, to say nothing of the most outlandish getup ever seen on a living woman. And that fellow she married!

Charley was never any ball of fire, not even in his palmy days, assuming he had some. But the goof now has turned into a cross between an oldtime carnival barker and an unemployed sandwich-board man. With card tricks thrown in to clinch the bad impression.

But what happened to Charley isn't as bad as what happened to Harry. Charley did have the disadvantage of going to the wrong school and Susie picked him up off the remnant counter, you might say, but Harry was raised right. Must have been bad blood in the family somewhere. The sap talked about canasta, of all things.

Oh sure, there were people there who have held themselves together pretty successfully. Doris M, for example. To look at her now you would never dream she was the problem girl of the class. What that female did not think up to do that she should not have done had not been invented yet. But she looked fine at the reunion. Just like a dame with lots of class.

All the rest of the old crowd was back, except Jim. It was obvious that the less said about old Jim the better, though there is not much to say. The best guess is that he couldn't borrow a pair of shoes to wear even if he had been able to stand on his feet.

The only reason I went back this year was because I never had gone before and I don't intend to go again until the 50th. I think everyone owes it to himself to check up on his classmates at least once during the years, though it is a blow.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Whither Bound, Video?

The doctors who examine prize fighters before the bout are examining the wrong people. They should examine the video set owners. The limiting of the telecast of the Louis-Savold fight to theaters only and the decision to take the same routine with the next big heavyweight bout has the fireside fight followers groggier than Louis or Savold ever were. They are staggering around, glassy-eyed and wigwagging for help. With football about to limit telecasts, and with all sports promoters studying the theater idea, it is possible the sports world menu on which the American living room will have to feed will be extra sparse.

There are pessimists who fear all they will be able to get from video may be programs in which Howdy Doody wrestles Garraway-at-Large, fights are limited to five rounds between Uncle Miltie and We The People and the Fall football battles are between teams made up of Groucho Marx' guests and Mrs. Roosevelt's panels.

IS VIDEO TO continue as a funnel for the free show or will the set soon be a combination slot machine, phone booth and tambourine? What are the possibilities that Faye Emerson ultimately may be visible only in chain nickolets, that Berle will use his seltzer bottle routine only for people who put coins in a slot and that puppets will be available only as part of the telephone service?

Radio was always "for free", but its child, video, has taken over in so many fields that the "gate" has been blitzed, confronting the audience. The outdoor fight promoters were first to take matters in hand by limiting a fight broadcast to a group of chain movie houses. The "Videots" resent the "no-dough-no-show" routine and another little world war is in the making. The television audience has come to regard video as its "knothole on the world". And it doesn't like the idea of the hole being plugged up.

IDEAS FOR the pay-as-you-enter system on video are bursting out all over. First there was "phonevision", through which a scrambled telecast is unscrambled and the charge put on the phone bill. Then came a device to be bought and attached to the video set. And there are numerous ideas for coin slots on the machines. A video set with built-in derby hat, to be passed automatically, is probably in a blueprint stage somewhere. The ideal video set, which Elmer Twitchell has in mind, will have cash register attachments, a complete price list of major events and a miniature icebox enabling a videot to get a cold beer without leaving the picture.

"Look what the television set cost me last month!" people may soon be screaming. "We have got to scrimp on some of these telecasts or go bankrupt." Or "How come there are charges for four football games on this month's bill— I only saw three."

There will be many headaches before the problem is solved. Personally, we favor leaving football, baseball and fights on the video free-show menu and putting the puppets, cooking lessons and panels in the chain theaters.

Security Move

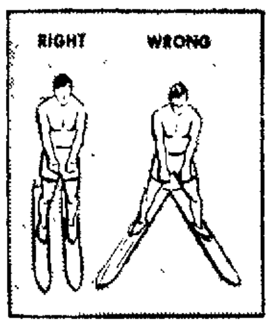
Ohio families owned 12,714,000 life insurance policies, totaling $15,335,000,000, at the start of this year, a new high of such protection, the Institute of Life Insurance reports.

This compares with $13,739,000,000 owned in this state a year before and $10,117,000,000 owned five years earlier.

"The last year saw a continuation of the record-making development of life insurance ownership which has been in evidence since the end of World War Two," Holgar J. Johnson, institute president, commented. "Attainment of the present bulwark of life insurance protection, now the most widely-held form of savings and protection of American families, is a striking demonstration of the thrift-mindedness of the American people. It is a financial security based on the philosophy of individual initiative and far exceeds the life insurance owned by any other people in the world, both in aggregate amount and in per capita totals."

SUMMER SKIERS

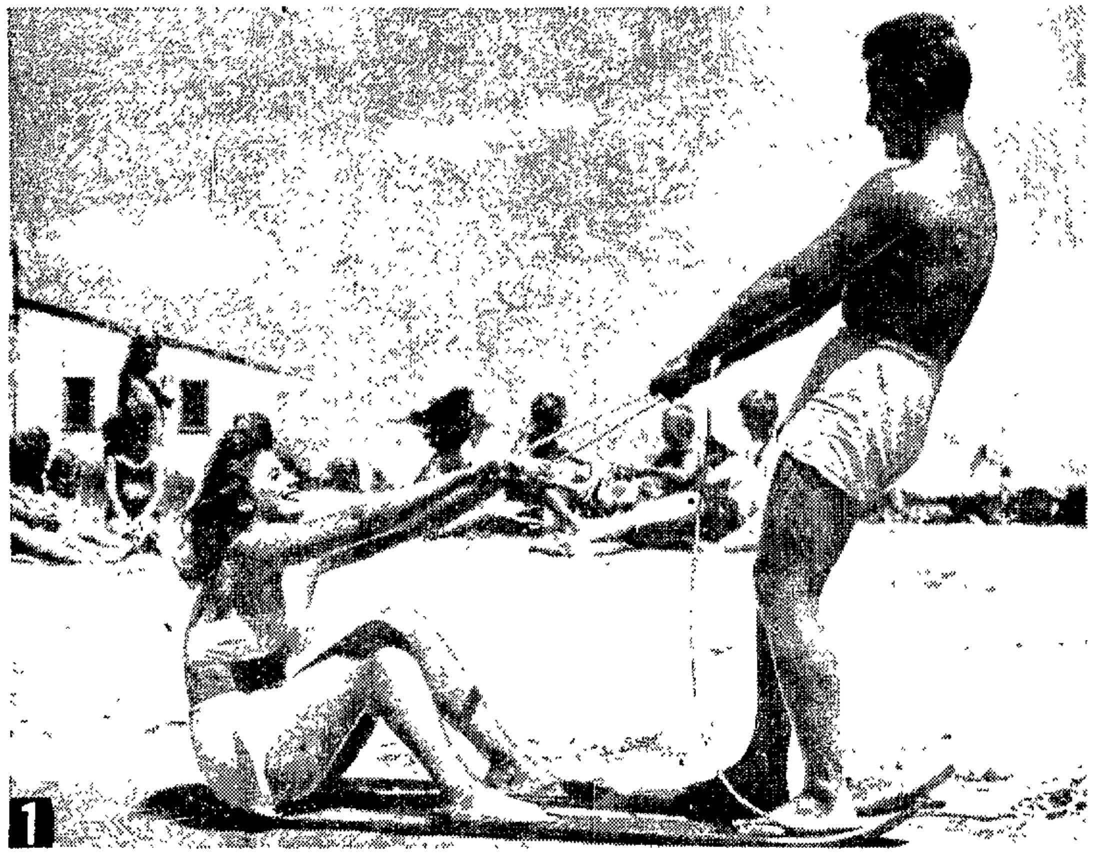
ANY person from six to 60 with the ability to keep his feet pointed straight ahead can become a spectacular water skier after a few simple lessons. Maybe he won't be able to ski on one foot, jump over obstacles or do acrobatics like the experts, but he will find himself skimming over the waves behind a motorboat.



The technique is practically the same as in snow skiing, according to Bruce Parker, world's champion water skier, who shows how it's done at Amityville, Long Island.

Beginners first learn the rudiments of the sport on the beach, practicing the three elementary positions: sitting, crouching and standing. After a few trial runs with the instructor lending a hand, the novice takes off for an exciting jaunt. The worst that can happen is a good dunking.

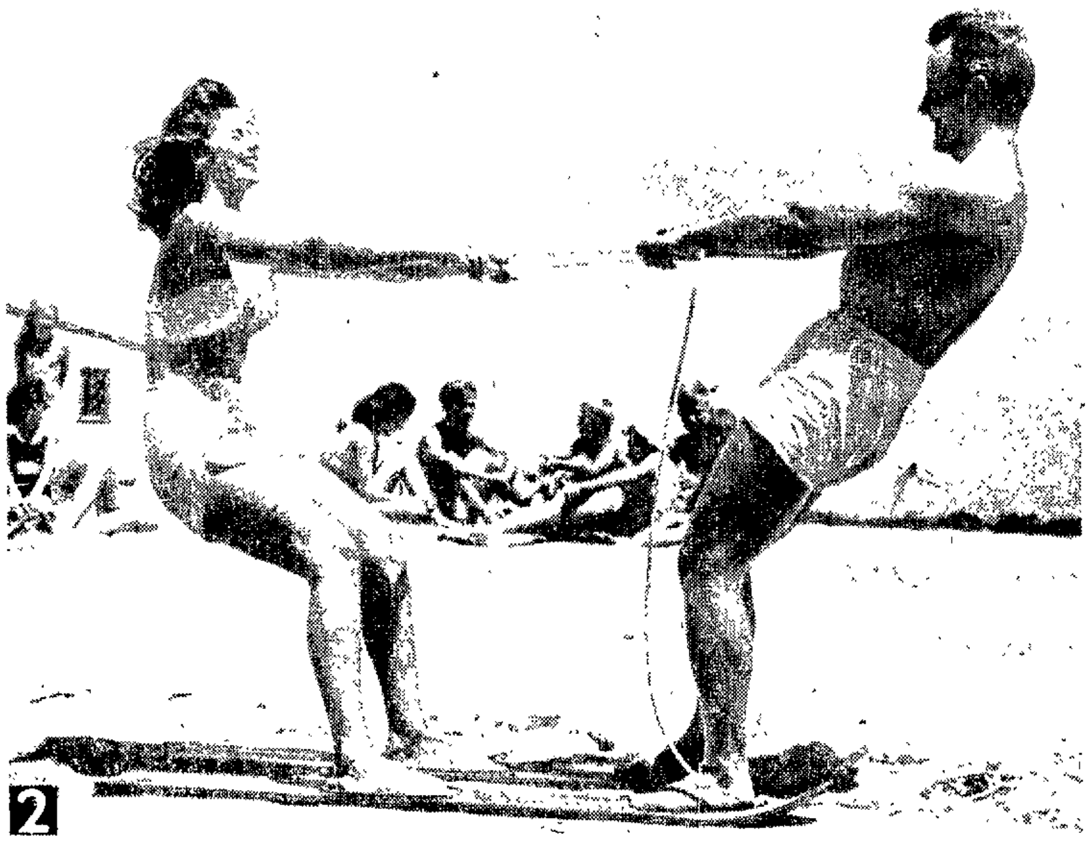
Scooting around a curve under the watchful eyes of Bruce Parker (left) is a breath-taking thrill for skiers who have had only a few practice runs. The skier who loses his balance and takes a tumble can release his feet easily from the rubber shoes.



1

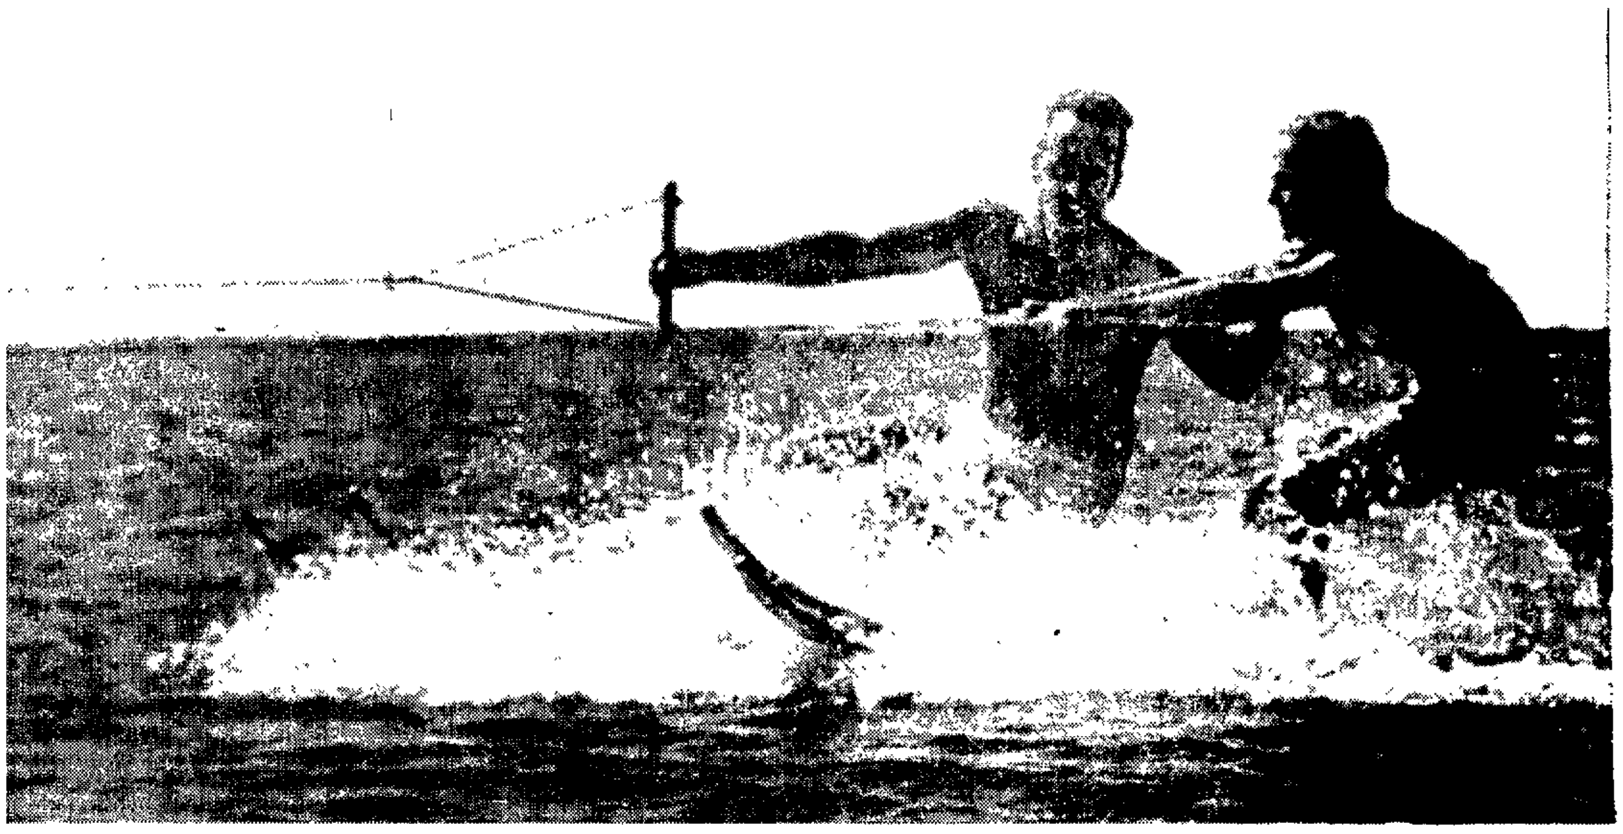
Eager Ellen Jayne begins her lessons, sitting on skis which are eight inches apart. Her knees touch.

First surge of the boat gives instructor Parker and his pupil a steady, fast pull, bringing them out of the seated position practiced earlier on the sand.

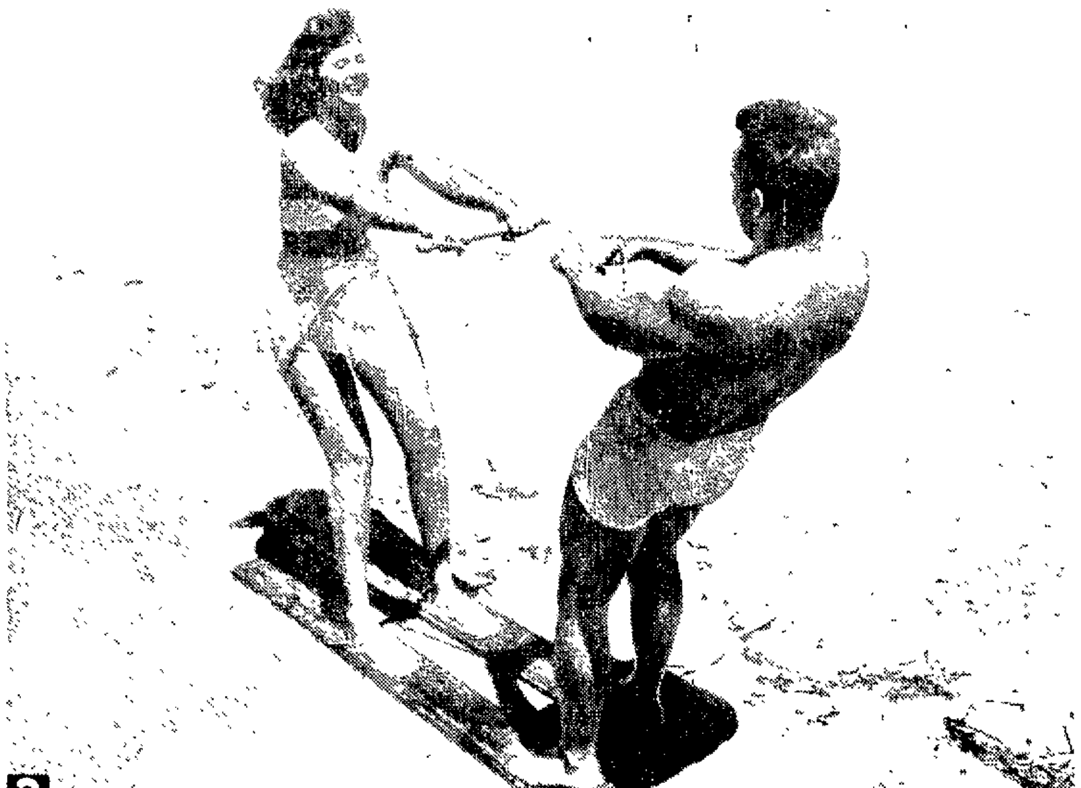


2

The instructor pulls Ellen into same crouching position as the boat will drag her when it starts off.



Seconds later, the skier has been pulled to a crouch—the second position. This was her first time on skis in the water, so Parker continues holding her.



3

This is the position Ellen will assume when water skiing. Her arms are straight, her body forward.

The big moment comes when Parker let's go and she's on her own, a skier at last. A few runs alone will give enough confidence to try simple tricks.

Faith of Our Fathers

A Catholic priest ponders religious persecution in England

Father Frederick William Faber was reared a Protestant, but followed his Oxford classmate, John Henry Newman, to the Catholic faith. In his adopted church Faber missed the hymns of Wesley, Watts and Cowper. So he determined to write some of his own. He didn't know one note from another, and he began by memorizing 14 tunes and writing words to them. In all he was to write 150. In 1849, at age 35, Faber was sent to London to convert an old whisky shop into an oratory for a group of fellow priests. In his spare time he wrote hymns and reviewed the religious history of England.

It had been 300 years since slovern Henry VIII had known no limit of debauchery. After 18 years of marriage to his dead brother's wife Catherine, the fat monarch fell for Anne Boleyn, the queen's maid of honor. But Anne told the king to hands off unless he meant to marry her. So he meant to marry her. But for a king to divorce his queen and marry her maid wasn't as easy as that. Among others, the Pope thought it wasn't proper.

Henry met the situation by denouncing the Roman Church and establishing the Church of England. Opponents were escorted by the hundreds to the gallows, the stake and the chop block. Among the loyal Catholics sentenced to the gallows was Statesman and Author Sir Thomas More. But the king benevolently commuted the sentence to the ax and the chancellor walked to the block as lightly as if going to a picnic. Monarch of both state and church, Henry married Anne, tired of her and had her hanged. In all, he married six times before he rotted to death at 56.

It was the memory of the Catholic martyrs, especially Sir Thomas More, that was fresh in Father Faber's mind when he wrote for one of the tunes he had memorized:

"Faith of our fathers! Mary's prayers
Shall win our country back to Thee;
And through the truth that comes from God,
England shall then indeed be free."

Edited for use by all denominations, Faber's hymn reads:

Faith of our fathers! living still
In spite of dungeon, fire and sword;
O how our hearts beat high with joy
Whene'er we hear that glorious word.

Our fathers, chained in prisons dark,
Were still in heart and conscience free;
How sweet would be their children's fate,
If they, like them, could die for thee!

Faith of our fathers! we will love
Both friend and foe in all our strife;
And preach Thee, too, as love knows how
By kindly words and virtuous life.

Faith of our fathers! holy faith!
We will be true to Thee till death!

Mullen Selected At Methodist Sessions

Dr. Knight said most of the nation's church-related schools have had to reduce their facilities to meet increased operating costs. Decreases in male enrollment have at the same time cut deepley into one of the main sources of revenue, he added.

Bishop Werner asked all Methodist Churches in the state to include an annual contribution of at least 25 cents per active member for the colleges.

"Prophet Without Honor"

WHEN Jesus began to preach in His own country, He taught in the synagogue. His listeners were astonished and said, "Whence hath This Man this wisdom, and these mighty works?

"Is not this the carpenter's Son? Is not His mother called Mary? And His brethren, James, and Joses, and Simon, and Judas? And His sisters, are they not all with us? Whence then hath this Man all these things?" And they were offended in Him.

But Jesus said to them, "A prophet is not without honor, save in His own country, and in His own house." And He did not many mighty works there because of their unbelief.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

A Technique For Meeting A Crisis

Lowell Thomas tells the story of a strange event which happened in Hartford, Conn., in the early days of our country.

It suddenly grew dark, so dark that the chickens went to roost.

Dr. Peale

The sun was blotted out and stayed that way for a long time. The state legislature was in session at that moment. The lower house of the body adjourned in disorder, the men rushing to their homes to be with their wives and children. The state senate was more orderly. One senator proposed a resolution that the members adjourn so that they might have an opportunity to compose their souls and make their peace with God before the world came to an end. But then another senator, a religious and God-fearing man named Abraham Davenport, got to his feet and spoke some good old Yankee common sense.

"If this is not the end of the world, we do not need to adjourn. If this is the end of the world, I would rather be here doing my duty when God finds me. I move that candles be brought and that we go on with the business of the commonwealth." Men became calm and reason prevailed.

ONE OF the most important skills each of us needs to develop is that of knowing how to meet a crisis. For no matter how lucky or clever you may be, you cannot avoid encountering crises in your life. The mark of intellectual and emotional maturity is your ability to evaluate and meet a crisis

It does not necessarily follow that a crisis is a tragedy. Indeed, I am told that the Chinese character for crisis means at the same time danger and opportunity. A crisis, properly handled, may mean an entrance into a great new sphere of progress. In any case, you cannot live successfully or confidently without knowing how to meet a crisis.

And the secret — the ability to meet the vicissitudes of human experience—where is it found?

Like so many other great secrets, it is contained in a book available to anyone, the Bible. Open it to one of the greatest passages in all literature, the 112th Psalm. There, buried in the middle of that lovely psalm, it is told in a simple sentence: "He shall not be afraid of evil tidings: his heart is fixed, trusting in the Lord."

Courtesy System Eases Cost Of Over-Parking

TEMPLE, Tex. (UP)—City Manager Weir Routh has installed a "courtesy" system to prevent citizens from feeling they are being "gigged" by parking meters.

When an over-parking ticket is issued, the time is stamped on it. If the auto owner gets to police headquarters within an hour, he may escape the $1 over-parking fine by dropping a nickel in a special parking meter set up in corporation court room.

Said Routh: "This gives everybody a chance "

Rabbis Favor Powerful U.N.

Army Of Own Urged To Help Keep Peace

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 23 (AP) — A more powerful United Nations, with an army of its own and geared to become a world government, is urged by the country's biggest rabbinical body.

This, in "the final analysis", is the only real chance to get peace and keep it, declares the Central Conference of American Rabbis.

The nationwide organization of Jewish clergymen says that as a first, vital step, the U.N. should be given "the power to control the production of armament", and adds:

The U.S should lead the way now in proposing new comprehensive plans for world "control and reduction of all armaments" — since previous arms control plans have failed.

The recommendations were made yesterday in a report adopted at the conference's 62nd annual convention at the Griswold Hotel, attended by more than 600 rabbis from all parts of the country and Canada.

The convention said it "approves and applauds" the announced U.S. policy of resisting "military aggression with all the strength at our command".

But while "mobilizing our full strength to prevent further aggression", the report said, "we must examine conscientiously our own past mistakes and seriously must explore every possible avenue of peace".

"The necessary expedient of the moment must not be confused with a long-range policy of peace. Nor must the emergency of the moment be permitted to postpone an immediate effort to plan for a reduction of armament throughout the world "

Mayer To Quit M-G-M For New Pastures

HOLLYWOOD, June 23 (AP) — Somebody stepped on the lion's tail out at M-G-M. And the lion is roaring.

Louis B. Mayer, one of the founders of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio 26 years ago, said yesterday that he is resigning He is not, however, quitting the motion picture business. He is just changing studios.

"I am going to be more active than I have been at any time during the last 15 years," Mayer said.

He is 65 and has been listed on Treasury Department rolls for years as America's highest paid executive. Some years his earnings topped a million dollars.

His next job, Mayer said, "will be at a studio and under conditions where I shall have the right to make the right kind of pictures — decent, wholesome pictures for Americans and for people throughout the world who want and need this type of entertainment".

Mayer did not disclose his plans. Rumor has it he may set up his own studio or join with his son-in-law, William Goetz. Goetz is production chief at Universal-International Studio.

Could THIS happen in our community?

PARENTS OF TWINS PLAN RELIGIOUS EXPERIMENT

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. announced yesterday their intentions of conducting a novel experiment with their recently-born twins.

They plan to give one child every possible advantage of religious training in one of the local churches. They will deprive the other child of all religious training, keeping him away from Christian example and influence as far as possible.

The parents said they are interested in observing the differences in character, behaviour, and outlook which the experiment should reveal as the twins reach maturity.

Actually it didn't happen!

But if it were to happen in our community, we'd lose no time in doing something about it!

Children are SOULS, not guinea pigs. To deprive a little child of the right to religious training is a crime unthinkable.

And yet, right here in our own community there are many parents who BY SHEER NEGLECT are depriving their children of the opportunities our churches offer.

Can't we, in a Christian and neighborly way, DO SOMETHING ABOUT THAT?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Wilson's Blast Laughlins, 13-4; Irish Win On Two Hits

Dairymen Beaten, 4-2, Behind Loose Playing

The battle for the first four spots in the City League pennant race became tighter than ever as the loop leading Homer Laughlin nine was blasted by Wilson's Market, 13-4, and Irishtown collected only two hits to beat Golden Star, 4-2, in games Friday night at Wellsville and Patterson Field, respectively.

Wilson's unleashed a 15-hit attack against three Laughlin hurlers while Saint held the Newell team to six hits. Arbaugh and Glass connected for round trippers for Wellsville.

Wilson's scored 11 runs in the first three innings and sewed the game up in the first frame when they pushed across five markers.

Prosko walked and reached second on Allison's sacrifice. Allison was safe and the two executed a double steal. Downard's single scored Prosko and Allison scored on a relay back to second to get Downard.

McDonald singled and Walker followed with a single to score Downard. Thurman singled and at this point the starting hurler, Simmons, was replaced by Wheatley. The new pitcher was touched for a single by Saint to score McDonald and Walker. Prosko, up for his second time, fanned

They added four markers in the second on five singles and a walk and they plated two runs in the third on a single, an error and a base on balls.

Arbaugh and Glass connected for their round trippers in the sixth and seventh innings, respectively

Laughlins got their four runs in the fifth on two singles, three walks and an error. The big blow of the frame was Stephens' single to score two.

A bit of wildness and some loose playing on the part of his teammates could be blamed for the hard luck loss of Golden Star's Jack Rogers as he allowed the Irish two singles—one an infield hit. Both came in the fourth inning when the winning team counted three markers.

The score was knotted at 1-all going into the Irish half of the fourth when Mase reached first on a slow roller past the pitcher, and then on two wild pitches advanced to third.

Kelly then got the only clean hit off Rogers. He lined a single over third base to score Mase Kelly was forced at second by Finnie and Vic Reed reached first base on a fielder's choice as Finnie was safe at second on Thirdbaseman Talbott's throwing error at second.

Finnie was safe at the plate when First Baseman Manganno threw home on a smash by Vern Jones in an attempt to cut off the run. Reed went to third on the play and scored as he and Jones worked the double steal.

The Irish took the lead in the third when Berkhimer reached first on an error and went all the way to third on a wild pitch. He scored when Hamilton grounded out.

The Dairymen knotted the count in the fourth frame when Gordon Brick singled and Guy Sillence drew a base on balls. Brick scored on a smash by Manganno.

Manganno gave Golden Star their other run when he blasted a home run in the seventh.

Heafner-Palmer Cling To Lead In Inverness

By FRITZ HOWELL

TOLEDO, O., June 23 (AP)— The 14th Inverness best-ball matches with their razzle - dazzle scoring system, are proving again that the low scorers don't always win golf tournaments

At the end of three rounds in the seven-match best-ball fray between eight pairs of top-flight professionals, the leaders with a plus 9 count are those canny North Carolinians, husky Clayton Heafner of Charlotte and Johnny Palmer of Badin.

No one is disputing their claim to the top spot, since they've scored 28 birdies and are 28 under par for three rounds. They've scored 62, 62 and 61 over the par 71 Inverness layout in three tries.

But after that, things are a bit jumbled, if you compared scoring ability with the point totals in the race for the $4,000 top prize of the $15,000 jackpot.

For instance, Henry Ransom of St. Andrew, Ill., and Roberto DeVincenzo of Argentina, are in second place with plus 7, but are only 16 under par for the route. Three teams which are far behind them in the race for the gold are far under them in scoring.

Jimmy Demaret, the dapper one from Ojai, Calif., and Jack Burke of Houston, Tex., are in third place with plus 3 after a pair of birdie 61's yesterday, putting them 23 under par.

And not only that, but the same two teams are two points behind defending champions Sam Snead and Jim Ferrier, a pair of former PGA kings, who are at minus 1 despite being only 11 under par—the poorest performance in the tournament to date.

As the teams wheeled into today's two rounds, the standings were.

Heafner-Palmer plus 9, Ransom-DeVicenzo plus 7, Demaret-Burke plus 3, Snead-Ferrier minus 1, Harrison-Furgol minus 3, Mangrum-Middlecoff minus 3, Fred Haas-Porky Oliver minus 6, and Al Brosch-Pete Cooper minus 6.

The eight pairs manufactured 110 birdies and a pair of eagles in yesterday's rounds, boosting the three round total to 151 birds and two eagles. The record for seven rounds is 344 birdies and seven eagles, set two years ago.

Ransom and DeVicenzo picked up their second-place total yesterday by running into a pair of not-too-hot teams. In the morning they fired a 63 to pick up three points from Brosch-Cooper, while Demaret-Burke, with 61, couldn't pick up a point from Heafner-Palmer.

In the afternoon, with a 67-second highest score of the round—Ransom-DeVicenzo were three-up victors over Snead-Ferrier, while Harrison-Furgol, with a 65, were four-down losers to Heafner-Palmer.

Proving that it isn't what you shoot, but when you shoot it, and against whom, that counts.

Hot Duels Loom Today In AAU Meet

BERKELEY, Calif., June 23 (AP)— America's finest athletes battle each other and a host of foreign stars today in the 63rd Senior AAU Track and Field championships.

World and national records appeared in jeopardy in some events, notable the 400-meter run and the 110-meter high hurdles. The high jump mark also was in danger.

Sunny weather was forecast and a fast track assured for the 1951 championship finale, offering a preview of the power that will man next year's U.S. Olympic team.

One of the day's main events was the 400-meter dash in which world record (45.8) George Rhoden of Morgan State College, Baltimore, was pitted against his fellow Jamaican, Herb McKenley, and Mal Whitfield of the U.S. McKenley set his world 440-yard standard of 46 seconds here in Edwards Stadium in 1948, and in the same year racked up a 45.9 time for 400 meters.

Whitfield holds the world 880-yard record of 1.49.2 but also runs a corking 400 meters, in which he placed third in the 1948 Olympics. The Rhoden - McKenley - Whitfield duel figured to provide sizzling time.

Dick Attlesey, world's greatest high hurdler, had his sights aimed for a double purpose-breaking his own record of 13.6 for the 110 meters and retaining his national crown.

Three high jumpers who have cleared 6 feet, 9 inches or better this year threatened Les Steers' world record of 6-11. They were John Hall of the University of Florida, Charles Holding and Walt Davis of the San Antonio A.C.

The 1500-meter run brought together such pacemakers as England's Doug Wilson, Warren Druetzler of Michigan State and Leonard Turex of Ohio State.

DODGE'N' AROUND

This bit of trivia is being written on June 22 — the first day of Summer and we mention this only because it is understandable if us humans act rather strangely during the period of Summer's heat. However, some of the rulings and edicts that have been coming out of Washington for the past few months cannot in any way be blamed on the Washington weather.

It certainly is no wonder that us average citizens are confused. In one day's papers we are told that further manpower is going to be needed for the armed services. In the next issue of the same paper we are informed that 100,000 men will be released from the Army. One set of military officials tell us we are winning the war. Another group of military brass assures us that we are losing the war because of insufficiency of equipment.

The Department of Labor assures us that the cost of living is increasing. President Truman in his last fireside chat informed us that the cost of living is coming down.

Economists for the government have told us that we can all have prosperity by borrowing our way out of trouble. Other economists tell us that this policy of deficit spending will result in ruin.

Our State Department doesn't think there is much danger of Russia starting World War III. Our military strategists assures us that the danger of World War III is very real. These conflicting statements could be enlarged no end and probably to no purpose.

There are no conflicting statements here at Hays Motors regarding used cars. We have a number of recent trade-ins that will provide someone with good and dependable transportation. We don't say they are as good as new but we do say they are worth all that we are asking for them.

Liming Of Sod Urged After Harvesting Hay

LISBON, June 23 (Special) — Farmers who have enough limestone on their fields to grow red clover and alfalfa are urged by state agronomists to make limestone applications on sod after the hay crop is removed, according to Floyd Lower, county extension agent.

He said results of experimental work at the Wooster Experiment Station indicate that benefits are as good when limestone is applied on sod as when applied elsewhere in the rotation.

Limestone is easier to apply on sod land, and since the spreading will be done in June and July the farmer avoids the August-September rush season with its consequent short supply.

Applications on quite acid land should be made as near the legume seeding as possible, Lower said. The usual practice is to apply before seeding.

YOUNGSTOWN O June 23 (AP)—They started pruning the field down today as 16 players opened match play in the annual Ohio Public Links championship

Four players will emerge from today s 36-hole grind over the tough 6 500-yard Mill Creek course After tomorrow morning s single round the two survivors will battle it out in the afternoon for the championship

Gene Lake 36 year-old machinist from Toledo turned in a 72 71—147 card yesterday to capture medalist honors in qualifying play

The competition was held over two Mill Creek courses, one with a par of 70 and another with 71

Although bothered like the rest of the players by intermittent wind and rain, Lake birdied four holes on the morning round and his 72 was just one over par Trap trouble and double bogey six on the 13th gave him a five over-par 75 on the afternoon round however

Others at the top of the qualifying heap were Vince Leskosky of Youngstown 1949 Ohio Amateur runner up, and Ralph Schneider of Cleveland, 1949 Ohio Public Links champion Both were three strokes behind with 150 Leskosky having 78-72 and Schneider 73 77

Joe Lazor of Akron carded 76 75—151 and three players turned in total of 152 They were Andy Holmer of Toledo Marco Meola of Canton and Ed Koski of Steubenville

Of the 85 starters only 68 finished Jim Caspio recent winner of the Cleveland district title was one of those who gave up in disgust

Jack Zimmerman of Dayton as winner of the meet last year did not have to qualify

Yanks Blank Indians, 6-0, Trail By 2½

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

So Ted Williams is no team player? Don t try to sell that to the Chicago White Sox

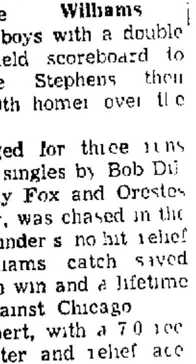
Williams was a one man gang at Fenway Park last night as the Red Sox clipped the fleet Chicago lads 6-5 Vern Stephens game winning homer with a man on stole the headlines but Williams put on a brilliant all-around exhibition—fielding, throwing and hitting

Ted actually starred in the field Honest He raced to the scoreboard in left to make a sensational leaping stab of Chico Carrasquel s fly to save the game in the eighth Chicago had knocked out Mel Parnell scoring two runs and had men on second and third when Williams ended the threat

In the fifth inning Ted s fine peg to Bobby Doerr cut down over ambitious Joe DeMaestri trying to stretch a single into a double

Remember when Williams never hit to left? When he used to dig in at the plate and try to pull every pitch to right? No more

Chicago led 3 1, when Williams came up with one out in the third He bunted — that s right — bunted neatly down the unprotected third base line A pass to Doerr and singles by Clyde Vollmer and Les Moss tied the score It was still 3 3 when Williams came up with two out and Billy Goodman on second in the fourth inning Once more he crossed up the boys with a double off the left field scoreboard to break the tie Stephens then smashed his 10th homer over the left field wall



Williams

Parnell, tagged for three runs in the third on singles by Bob Dillinger and Nelly Fox and Orestes Minoso s homer, was chased in the eighth Ellis Kinder s no hit relief work and Williams catch saved Parnell's eighth win and a lifetime 17 3 record against Chicago

Randy Gumpert, with a 7 0 record as a starter and relief ace took the loss Luis Aloma and Marv Rotblatt followed with effective shutout jobs

With Allie Reynolds throwing his second straight shutout, a six single 6-0 job against Cleveland the New York Yankees clipped Chicago s American League lead to 2½ games—the same margin they left home with two weeks ago

Bobby Feller just didn t have it in his try for a seventh straight and 11th victory The Yanks combed him for eight of their 10 hits in seven innings Jerry Coleman drove home half the Yank runs with two singles and Gene Woodling and Bobby Brown each contributed three hits Yogi Berra s 11th homer came off Feller in the three-run second

Bucky Harris was rushed to a Washington hospital for observation while his Senators were losing to Detroit, 7 3 Fred Sanford the ex-Yank who threw a flashy three hitter in his first Washington start was knocked out by the Tigers in a six-run first inning Ted Gray needed help from Hal White in the eighth to nail down his third win

Gus Zernial poled two home runs off Al Widmar as Philadelphia nudged St Louis a little deeper into the cellar with a 5 2 win behind Alex Kellner

Brooklyn and Pittsburgh struggled through lighting trouble and showers in a damp marathon that finally ended at 1 55 a m East Liverpool Time this morning They were two hours late starting because of light trouble and delayed another 36 minutes by rain At last it was written into the record as another Brooklyn win 8 4 preserving their 6½ game lead on New York Clyde King was the winner on relief over Ted Wilks

Rookie Willie Mays gave New York Giant fans a shot in the arm with a three-run homer in the 10th to whip Chicago, 9-6

Sam Jethroe, restored to center field when Tommy Holmes took over as Boston manager came through with a two-run double with two out in the ninth for the Braves' 8-7 win over St Louis

Cincinnati ripped into Jocko Thompson for three in the first inning and made it stand up for a 3-2 edge over the Phillies to move into fourth place

DEAL WITH A REALTOR

An occasion will arise at some time when you will want to buy or sell Real Estate. Whatever the reason may be, you will want immediate action.

When the papers transferring the title to this property are passed, you will want to be assured that they are in the proper legal form, and that the entire transaction is aboveboard. If you want to make a quick sale or a safe purchase, you would consult a REALTOR.

Should you require legal advice, you would not consult a waiter, neither would you inquire of a shoe salesman for a cure of smallpox.

REALTORS are not just ordinary Real Estate dealers. They are members of the local Real Estate Board affiliated with the National Association of Real Estate Boards, subject to rules and regulations governing their practice.

Sideswiping Drivers Face Loss Of Left Arms

Two autoists who sideswiped Friday night near New Somerset face loss of their mangled left arms, according to the State Highway Patrol Station at Wintersville.

Officers said James Henderson, 17, of Toronto, and Harley Shannon, 28, of Irondale, collided while bound in the opposite direction about 6:45 p.m. on the Bergholz-New Somerset Road. They apparently were driving with an arm out the window.

They were taken to the Ohio Valley Hospital at Steubenville and amputation of the injured arms may be necessary, patrolmen said. They had no passengers.

2,100 To Be Laid Off

DAYTON, June 23 (AP)—About 2,100 of the 21,000 employees of the Frigidaire division of the General Motors Corp. will be released this month and next. Several hundred already have been laid off. A Frigidaire spokesman said the cutback in production results from government curbs on use of critical materials.

Repairs Of Old Building Start

Fredland Renovation May Take 8 Weeks

Six to eight weeks will be required for the renovation of the Fredland Building for which Maurice Rapport has completed arrangements to purchase from the former city jeweler, Maurice Fredland, now retired in Santa Monica, Calif.

The extensive remodeling being done by Loren Orr, contractor, will include a new roof, recapping of chimneys and similar exterior work. The overhanging cornice has been removed from the East Sixth St. side of the three-story brick and the Washington St. side will be next.

Several small concerns vacated the ground floor in May after the State Fire Marshal's Office issued a tear-down order, but the modifications now being made will meet the state's specifications, it was said.

The second and third floors will be closed temporarily and long-term leases probably will be offered for first-floor storerooms, with modern fronts planned.

The price for the property was not revealed.

The new owner operates a chain of dress shops, including four in East Liverpool.

It has been a downtown landmark since 1882 when it was erected as the Hollenden Hotel, and in recent years the location came to be known as "Heimie's Corner".

Fredland intended originally to replace it with a modern one-story business building but the estimates were considered high, and the sale and remodeling followed.

Dump Fill Planned For Tract In Heights

With the opening of a new dump grounds on Pleasant Heights, signs have been erected on the Maine Blvd. dump, prohibiting the dumping of refuse of any kind, Service-Safety Director Lawrence Bloor said today.

The Main Blvd. dump was used by the city for the disposal of materials collected in the Spring clean-up.

However, the city was asked by the Pleasant Heights Civic Association to assist in making a fill on ground deeded the organization for playground purposes.

Bloor said that trash will be covered with earth as it is hauled to the site to make the ground level. About six months dumping will be possible at the Pleasant Heights site, according to the director.

Full Periods Begin Monday

Style Shows Thursday Will Open Playlot Series

The district's 16 playgrounds will operate on full schedule starting Monday, with three-period recreation daily and the first of the season's series of special events Thursday.

The playlots opened this week, but without forenoon periods because of the Daily Vacation Bible Schools which are at end. Beginning next week, there will be forenoon periods, 10 to 12, afternoon, 2 to 4, and evening, 6 to 8 30.

The first special event will be a style show Thursday night with supervisors of each lot now picking judges to award ribbons for the first three places in the following divisions:

Funniest costume, best dressed couple, most original, prettiest costume, best dressed boy, best dressed girl, best Western outfit, (Indian or cowboy) and the most old fashioned.

Merrill Hall, director for the Recreation Council's annual program, said only Grandview lots near Chester remains to be oepned. The Hancock County Board of Education is to supply a supervisor for this lot.

Attendance at the playgrounds on opening day Monday totaled 1,450. Mrs. Marjorie Bilbeck is in charge of handicraft.

Michigan Girl Plans Raft Trip On Ohio With 3 Friends

A 24-year-old Michigan girl who says she enjoys living with small groups of people is making plans today for a river trip to New Orleans with a woman artist and two male companions.

She's Mary Ellen McCrady, 24, of Ann Arbor, who graduated this month at the University of Michigan with a degree in Sociology.

"I've been thinking of making a trip on a raft down the rivers to New Orleans for a long time now and it looks like my dream is going to come true," Mary Ellen said at New Kensington.

"We're going to start building the raft soon and should be ready to leave sometime between July 7 and July 10."

The trip will be on the Allegheny, Ohio and Mississippi Rivers.

"We hope to be in New Orleans within two and a half months after we shove off", Mary Ellen declared. "The Chamber of Commerce at New Kensington is helping us with materials and supplies. The raft will be of oil drums and lumber. We're going to have a cabin with four bunks aboard and also will have a tent and a cook stove."

Mary Ellen's response for volunteers to make the trip was answered by Geraldine Garcia, 25-year-old Boston artist; Milton E. Borden, 28, a forester from New Bedford, Mass., and Donald A. Brown, 23, of Detroit, a student at the University of Michigan.

"All of us expect to have a lot of fun and adventure on the trip," Mary Ellen said. She added:

"I'm making the trip for several reasons. First of all, it's an experiment in human relations. It will be nice to find out how a small group can live together. I've always liked to live with small groups."

Pennsy To Repair City Grade Crossings

The Pennsylvania Railroad Co. will start Monday to repair grade crossings on both the main line and the Horn Switch tracks in East Liverpool.

Service-Safety Director Lawrence Bloor said M. E. Walker of Wellsville, railroad maintenance-of-way supervisor, made arrangements today to begin the work.

It may be necessary to partially close crossings while the work is in progress. The job will require about two weeks.

Heavy oak planks will be placed along the rails and the space between the tracks will be filled with black topping material to smooth the crossings.

About a dozen crossings will be included in the job, which has been delayed for several months because of other track work requiring immediate attention, according to the director.

Sprays Urged Against Bugs

Grain Weevils, Flies, Spittlebugs Appear

LISBON, June 23 (Special)—The Agricultural Extension Office here, command post for county farmers' battles, has issued orders for a delaying action against the insect army's front - rankers — grain weevils, spittlebugs and flies.

Floyd Lower, county agent, urged spray, whatever their "stripe". Based on studies by state entomologists he makes these recommendations:

Grain weevils — Clean contaminated bins and spray thoroughly with 5 per cent DDT-oil solution or emulsion. Apply DDT in cracks of floors and walls. It may be necessary to fumigate five or six weeks after harvest if weevils are found.

Spittlebugs — With this insect now reaching the adult form, many can be killed by spraying with DDT soon after removal of the first crop. If second crop is to stand for seed, application can be made about 20 days after first crop is removed. One-and-a-half pounds of technical DDT per acre should be used.

Flies — Good sanitation is the best control on average farm. DDT is satisfactory but should be applied with care to prevent contamination of feed and milk. An acceptable substitute for use on dairy cattle is Methoxychlor, although not as long lasting as DDT.

Lindane is better but requires more applications and is expensive. It is now being sold in combination with DDT and Methoxychlor. However, it should not be applied to cattle, he said.

Salem Mayor Loses Round In Zoning Fight

LISBON, June 23 (Special) — A motion by Mayor Harry M. Vincent of Salem to set aside a court order restraining him from issuing a gas bulk-station building permit was overruled Friday noon by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp.

Twelve residents got the restraining order May 31, claiming the bulk plant would be a constant hazard, increase insurance rates and decrease property values.

James A. Cross of Salem proposed to build the plant at Arch St. and Newgarden Ave. Mayor Vincent promised him a permit but the order blocked issuance.

The next move is up to Cross—the mayor is stymied and the residents are satisfied. He'll have to prove the site is not a residential zone and that the plant won't be dangerous.

Commissioners Pick Depositories For Funds

County commissioners designated eight banks Friday to handle county funds for a two-year period — July 12 to July 11, 1953.

Depositories designated to County Treasurer Vincent C. Judge were:

Active deposits — First National Bank and Potters Bank & Trust Co., East Liverpool; First National Bank, Salem; Farmers National Bank, Lisbon office; Firestone Bank, Lisbon; First National Bank, East Palestine, and New Waterford Bank.

Inactive deposits — First National, East Liverpool; Farmers National, Salem, and New Waterford.

Amount of interest on inactive deposits is fixed at 1 per cent by federal banking regulations, commissioners said.

Firemen Spend Day Dousing Dump Blaze

Firemen spent virtually a full working day dousing the recurring blaze in the Maine Blvd. dump Friday.

Firemen first were called Thursday night at 6 and worked until 1:45 a.m. yesterday.

About 8.15 a.m., another squad was sent to the dump when the fire flared anew and they did not return to Central Station until 5 p.m. yesterday.

The dump was a frequent source of trouble until it was closed about two years ago. Dumping resumed, however, and fires started again.
